Thousands Of Texans Flee Hurricane Beulah's Wrath

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (AP)—Hurricane Beulah battered Brownsville with winds surging above 100 miles per hour today and, slightly weakened by the onslaught, hurled her remaining strength toward Corpus Christi—and that was that.

More than 30,000 Texans fled from inland or taken refuge in hometown shelters. Their flight was orderly and appeared to be mostly cheerful—even taken as fun, at first, by some. But in neighboring Matamoros, Mex., officials reported fear and confusion as citizens scrambled for shelter.

Beulah had approached the Texas-Mexico coast with winds of 160 m.p.h., swirling around her center. Her slam at the Rio Grande Valley and her charge upcoast cut her big punch to 150 m.p.h., even though the eye, the focal point of her power, remained over water.

But as she aimed her dead calm eye at Corpus Christi she remained one of the most muscular storms ever recorded, and the Weather Bureau predicted Beulah would still pack a punch of better than 100 m.p.h. when the eye finally crashed ashore.

Tornadoes Likely
With two twisters already reported, the Weather Bureau said a few more tornadoes are likely within 80 miles of the coast between Corpus Christi and Galveston.

"She's just about the biggest, nastiest storm I've ever seen," said the veteran pilot of a Navy hurricane hunter after flying through the eye.

At 7 a.m. CDT Beulah was 125 miles south of Corpus Christi and moving northward at about 12 m.p.h.

Ham radio operators reported the tiny town of Valle Hermoso, Mexico, 15 miles south of Brownsville, was almost wiped out as the hurricane winds swept through. Many residents had been evacuated before the storm hit.

No deaths or injuries were reported immediately.

Blamed For 24 Deaths
Earlier Beulah had been blamed for 24 deaths—23 in the eastern Caribbean and Mexico's Yucatan Peninsula and one when a 15-year-old girl was swept from her surfboard by rolling waves at Freeport, Tex., south of Houston.

The Weather Bureau said Hurricane Beulah's center would pass just east of the mouth of the Rio Grande and thence northward, just offshore of Padre Island, a pencil-thin strip that runs along the coast from Brownsville to Corpus Christi.

Forecasters said the eye would remain over the churning Gulf of Mexico until it crashed inland in the Corpus Christi area late today.

Batters Citrus Groves
With the focus of the storm still over water, there was little likelihood that its force would diminish during a charge up the coast. Hurricanes draw their strength from warm sea waters.

Beulah uprooted giant palms, battered buildings and flattened Rio Grande Valley citrus groves as she surged to the coast.

The storm's blast knocked out all power in Brownsville. The city's lights blinked out in segments across the city as the storm's fury grew.

Rain fell in heavy bursts. Uprooted trees and ripped branches littered Brownsville streets. Some streets were impassable.

Hospitals were on emergency power. One residence caught fire, cause unknown.

The Weather Bureau said rides up to 15 feet and torrential rains threatened dangerous flooding from Brownsville to Palacios, 50 miles northeast of Corpus Christi on Matagorda Bay.

In the 150-mile stretch from Brownsville to Corpus Christi there is little immediately along the coast except pastures of the huge King Ranch, lushly grassed coastal prairie so flat there is no barrier for winds or tides.

Some 15 to 30 miles inland along this unobstructed coastline lie a number of small towns, among them Raymondville, San Manuel, Rachel, Encino, Falfurrias, Kingsville, Driscoll and Robstown.

Dirksen Deals Percy Favorite Son Role In '68

WASHINGTON (AP)—If the 55-vote Illinois delegation ratifies the deal, Sen. Charles H. Percy will get the state's favorite son designation and Sen. Everett M. Dirksen will claim a limelight at the 1968 Republican convention.

Percy, a relative liberal and a dove on the Vietnam war, got clearance Tuesday from Dirksen, the conservative GOP leader of the Senate and a hard-liner on Vietnam, for home base support to prospect the Republican presidential nomination field.

The price tag on this agreement is the expected designation of Dirksen as chairman of the state delegation, his appointment to the national platform drafting committee and his selection as chairman of that group.

Dirksen looks to this forum, with its attendant glare of public exposure, to further his campaign for re-election to a fourth Senate term. Dirksen, who will be 72 in 1968, may find the going tough, particularly if Democrat Adlai Stevenson III is his opponent.

The Dirksen-Percy accommodation, worked out in the interest of Illinois GOP unity, will require the cooperation of convention delegates elected in next June's primary.

In 1964 the Illinois delegation stuck with Barry Goldwater like paper on the wall. There is no positive assurance an organization-oriented delegation will go along with Percy, who is not exactly a favorite with party conservatives.

Dirksen said in a statement drafted after consulting with Percy that there are some "mechanical problems" about designating his colleague as a favorite son but "I don't believe they are unsolvable."

U.S. Fliers Hit DM Zone Red Gun Positions

SAIGON (AP)—High-altitude B52 bombers and low-sweeping jets piled more than a half-million pounds of explosives today on Communist artillery and mortars that wounded more than 100 Marines in 24 hours of heavy shelling near the Demilitarized Zone.

Military headquarters reported one Marine was killed in the firing from the big gun emplacements on sandbagged fortresses near the zone dividing the Vietnam.

The focus of the Communist attacks were the deeply entrenched Marine bastions of Con Thien and Gio Linh just below the DMZ.

Associated Press correspondent Edwin Q. White reported from Marine headquarters that shelling was so intense that road traffic to the two posts was suspended and all supplies were forced to move up on medical evacuation helicopters.

The Communist gunners used everything from light mortars inside the DMZ to long-range Soviet-built artillery placed 10 miles and more to the north.

More than 300 shells have hit the two U.S. posts in the past 24 hours and every few hours there were reports of more shelling.

Delta County Asked To Give Charities $65,000

Seventy leaders of the Delta United Services campaign breakfasted at Marco's this morning at 7:30 to launch a drive for $65,000 to help finance 11 agencies which give service in health, welfare, youth and military personnel fields in Delta County.

Campaign Director Robert Barron said that the drive will start Monday, Sept. 25, keep a blitz pace for two weeks and close on Saturday, Oct. 9.

Thomas Strabel, president of DUS said "raising $65,000 isn't going to be easy. We can't do it just by passing cards. The big thing is the story we have to tell of the work done by these 11 agencies in Delta County and we won't reach our goal until we tell the story and ask the people to contribute."

"Fund raising agencies are necessary to a successful community. What is given goes almost entirely to the agencies for which we collect it and the agencies do a good job. They are staffed by professionals and they care for our needs. The campaign has never been a complete success here, but we're getting better at it."

Barron, director of the drive for the third year, says the health and stature of the community is indicated by the DUS drive. "We support only the operating expenses of these 11 agencies," he said. "It's a Delta County-wide drive and to be successful we need the positive approach to our people."

"Please tell the people that this is one drive for 11 agencies. They would probably get $1 each from most persons if they conducted separate drives and what we're asking is fair share contributions. One hour's pay per agency from each donor would make the drive a success. We could get by with a $1 a month from each donor."

"We are encouraging the use of payroll deduction, it builds the stature of DUS and it reminds the people who gave that this is an all-year activity."

"DUS is going to be with us, or the government is going to take over these functions. I think that we can do it ourselves. We're establishing a master card index of givers so we want special surveillance of everyone.

"The drive will be in 7 divisions: Industrial — which is where the muscle of the campaign is — commercial, educational, professional, governmental, residential and townships. We have enjoyed some growth in recent years even outside of the industrial division, but we need more.

"We had 47,000 pledged last year and we lose 6 to 7 per cent a year, because some don't complete their pledges and some move away and for other reasons. We will have no house-to-house campaign this year because it was hardly worth the walk. We made a list of persons not covered in their employment and they will be sent a letter asking their support. This is experimental, but we're not risking much. We won't spend over $1,000 on total administration of DUS."

The 11 agencies which DUS helps finance are: Bay Cliff Health Camp, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Camp Fire Girls, Delta County Chapter for Retarded Children, which sponsored the Kennedy School and which now plans a sheltered workshop for the retarded; Delta County Red Cross Blood Bank, Salvation Army, Delta Family Services; U.P. Child Guidance Clinic, United Service Organization (USO for servicemen) and Michigan's Aid Society.

DUS headquarters is at 904 Ludington St., Box 78, Phone 786-7403.

Dr. Sabin, an ophthalmologist, has practiced in Marquette since 1957. He is a member of the State Board of Registration in Medicine.

Israeli Gunners Sink Arab Boats

TEL AVIV (AP)—Israeli tank gunners sank three Egyptian patrol boats carrying about 45 armed and helmeted soldiers today after Egypt twice tried to ferry them down the blocked Suez Canal. An Israeli armed forces spokesman said.

About 15 Egyptians in fatigue uniforms jumped from each craft into the canal after tanks fired on them at dawn and again about 2 1/2 hours later, sources said. They were seen struggling in the water and several casualties were reported.

An Egyptian official in Cairo denied the Israeli claim, charging that the Israelis opened fire without provocation on Egyptian positions across the 100-yard wide canal. He maintained no Egyptian boats were on the waterway.

Israeli observers in Tel Aviv accused Egypt of attempting to create tension to coincide with the opening sessions of the U.N. General Assembly in New York.

Manescu Urges U. N. Solution Of Mideast Trouble

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The U.N. General Assembly's new Communist president called on the 122 member states to embark today on a study aimed at finding a "lasting solution" to the Middle East problem.

Tall, silver-haired Cornelius Manescu, foreign minister of Romania, is the first Communist to be assembly president. He was elected Tuesday in a secret ballot with 112 votes for him to 1 for Tanzanian Ambassador John W. S. Malecela.

The assembly's prime duty, said Manescu, 51, is "to concentrate its efforts upon a thorough study of this (the Middle East) problem that could lead to a lasting solution in keeping with the vital interests of the peoples of that region."

The dispute was handed to the assembly by the emergency session that met after the six-day June war between Israel and the Arabs but could agree on no solutions. The Middle East dilemma headed the list of 96 items on the proposed agenda for the 22nd session.

Other key issues were the problem of substituting U.N. for South African control in South-West Africa, the question of seating Communist China and the means of achieving disarmament.

A Big Four discussion on the Middle East is a possibility with the arrival in New York of foreign ministers from the Soviet Union, France, England and the United States.

U.N. Secretary-General U Thant suggested Tuesday that the Security Council hold a private meeting among foreign ministers at the assembly to seek a consensus on peace issues within U.N. competence.

GM Denies Charge Of Market 'Steal'

DETROIT (AP)—A top United Auto Workers Union official says General Motors Corp. is "stealing as much of the market" as it can while Ford Motor Co. is idled by a UAW strike.

GM is "piling on as much production as possible," said Leonard Woodcock, a UAW vice president and head of the union's GM department. The company denied the charge.

With Ford shut down by some 160,000 UAW workers in support of demands for a new contract, Woodcock said GM's production of 1968 models "is greater now than at any time in other model years." Woodcock said he toured 13 cities having GM plants last week, meeting with local union officials.

"Schedule Unchanged"
"Our production schedule today is unchanged since before the selection of a strike target," a GM spokesman said.

The UAW has named Ford as the target for a labor contract that would replace the three-year pact which expired Sept. 6 and set a pattern for settlements at GM and Chrysler Corp. Contracts at the latter also expired Sept. 6, but the union has continued working without a contract.

Labor demands include a guaranteed annual income, a share of corporate profits, a "substantial" pay hike, boosts in fringe benefits and improved working conditions. Both union and Ford officials have indicated the strike would last a month or longer.

Seek Plant Posts
Meanwhile, bargainers conceded Tuesday at GM to concentrate immediately on seeking at the plant working agreements which supplement national contracts.

Strikes in support of demands on such local-level agreements crippled GM for periods of up to five weeks after national contracts had been settled in 1958, 1961 and 1964.

Both sides at GM agreed to forego bargaining on a national contract for at least two weeks while negotiators aim toward settling local-level demands at the firm's 200 plants around the nation. Company and union staff members from Detroit are planning to step in and help speed talks at 75 of the plants where a GM spokesman said about 25,000 demands are unsettled.

The meeting Tuesday at GM was the first since the UAW struck Ford. The union and Chrysler have not decided yet when to resume bargaining.

1st Strike Pay
Ford and UAW negotiators again put noneconomic issues on the agenda for their meeting today.

Ford's union workers today began drawing their first strike benefits—ranging from $20 a week for an unmarried worker to $30 for a worker with a family. The benefits are expected to drain approximately $4 million weekly from the union's strike fund, currently containing $67 million.

The union's top elected officers will meet Thursday in Detroit to recommend an emergency dues increase to prevent the strike fund from being emptied. Their proposal will be considered at a special convention called for Oct. 8 in Detroit.

UAW members still working are expected to be asked to pay emergency dues of $1 or $2 a day. Regular dues currently are $5 a month.

House Approves Rat Control On One Vote

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House, by one vote, has tentatively approved a $40-million increase in funds authorized for rat extermination and other state health programs.

If sustained on a vote scheduled for today, the action could partially erase what many members consider a black mark on the House for its rejection in July of the administration's $40-million rat control bill.

The measure adopted 129 to 128 Tuesday as an amendment to a $950 million health bill would increase the funds available for state public health programs by $20 million this year and $30 million next year.

When debate concluded for the night, Republicans were attacking an emergency $58-million hospital aid program included by Democrats in the bill.

Overwhelming passage of the House measure was expected today after action on the two controversial portions.

While funds in the bill are given for the states to use according to their needs, backers of the additional $40 million indicated they hope it would go largely for rat control. Twelve states have included rat control in programs developed under the health act passed initially last year.

The amendment was sponsored by Reps. Henry S. Reuss, D-Wis., and Charles M. Mathias Jr., R-Md., both of whom supported the administration effort in July to set up a new rat control program in the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

"The rat is more than the carrier of disease," Mathias said. "He has become the symbol of official cynicism."

State Likes Collective Woodland Test

By JEAN WORTH

ISHPEMING—Upper Michigan moved to make Michigan's entry in the demonstration projects of the Upper Great Lakes Regional Commission an improvement of the region's forest economy by better management, utilization and marketing of wood at a meeting here Tuesday in the Mather Inn.

The demonstration project, proposed by Dr. Carl A. Moyer, director of research at Michigan Tech, Houghton, and others, was recommended to the Michigan Advisory Task Force of the Upper Great Lakes Regional Commission by representatives of Northern Michigan's forest industries, educators, the U. S. Forest Service, Michigan Conservation Department, UPCA, Operation Action-U. P., and other agencies.

Regional Agency
The project proposal will be presented to a meeting of Lower Peninsula members of the Advisory Task Force at Gaylord on Monday, Sept. 25 for its approval before formal action on Michigan's entry at an Oct. 6 meeting in St. Ignace.

Dr. Carl A. Moyer

The deadline on submission of the projects to the Upper Great Lakes Regional Commission is Nov. 1.

The commission is composed of the governors of the states of Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota and the federal co-chairman, Thomas Francis of Washington, D. C.

States' Entries

Roger R. Rehberg, Lansing, of the Office of Economic Expansion, Michigan Department of Commerce, told the Advisory Task Force and their counselors that the demonstration projects shape up this way at present:

Michigan—Wood industry development by improved forest management, utilization and marketing of wood and wood products.

Wisconsin—Reclamation of drying lakes.

Minnesota—Beneficiation of low grade iron ore.

These demonstration projects represent a decision of the Upper Great Lakes Regional Commission at the governors conference at Lake of the Woods, Arkansas recently that economic development studies should end and action should start. It was suggested that technical assistance (planning) funds could be transferred to finance demonstration projects in regional development even before the Regional Commission (the Great Lakes Area's Little Appalachia federal-state development agency) was fully funded by Congress.

Demonstration Criteria

The criteria for demonstration projects in the three-state region is that they must be: concrete, visible, regional in application, and that they do not detract from the broader, on-going program planned for the region's development when the Regional Commission is fully operative.

Mayor Harold Vanlerberghe of Escanaba, chairman of the Michigan Advisory Task Force for the UGLRC, presided at the all-day session which heard several proposals for a Michi-

Lighted Athletic Field Is Goal Of Holy Name Club

At a recent Holy Name Board of education meeting the Holy Name Booster Club was granted permission by the Board to solicit pledges to finance lights and bleachers for the Holy Name Athletic Field.

It was cited by representatives of the Booster Club that the donated work of its members would reduce capital outlay costs to a minimum.

The project would be totally financed through the club's efforts so that no funds would be expended from the schools annual operational budget.

A committee representing the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine requested on a rental basis the use of the Holy Name facilities for the purpose of a city wide religious education program for Catholic students attending public high school. Along with this program would be an adult religious education program.

The Board also accepted a low bid proposal from Gehring Heating for the installation of two gas burners at the Christian Brother's residence for $649.

The Superintendent, Rev. Lawrence Gauthier, was requested to seek bids from the Escanaba and Bancroft Dairies for hot lunch milk supply for the coming year.

Student enrollment figures were presented for the 1967-68

County Employs Planning Firm

STEPHENSON — The Menominee County Planning Commission, meeting in the community room of the Bank of Stephenson, hired the planning firm of Williams and Works, Grand Rapids to file the final application for "701" funds in Menominee county.

Chairman Melvin Fazer, Spalding Township supervisor, announced that their is $8,000 available from Federal and State funds for one year.

The Planning Commission will recommend to the County Board of Supervisors that the 701 program be completed in 18 months instead of four year program as recommended by the Federal agency.

Williams and Works are going to present to the planning commission a cost breakdown on a 18 month program for presentation to the County Board at its October 9 meeting. The planning group reviewed the park improvement program in the county and Williams and Works recommended it be worked into the recreational phase of the planning program.

There has been thoughts that possibly the Menominee County Airport be moved elsewhere and planning of the relocation of the airport be included in the 701 program, but Williams and Works indicated that the State Department of Administration would have to approve airport planning within the 701 program.

George Ruby, Escanaba, with the Farmers Home Administration, discussed with the planning members, sewage and water money available at this time.

A certificate expressing appreciation for her services to the retarded children of San Gabriel Valley, Calif., was presented recently to Mrs. Charles Wickman, Glendora, Calif., the former Mary Jane Larson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence E. Larson of Wells.

"Our 'Miss Mary' as she is fondly referred to, has for more than three years given unselfishly of her time and talents to the children of the Retarded Children's Association of San Gabriel Valley," according to Byron K. Amos, Association president.

Liquor Control 'Responsive' To Varnum Protest

State Rep. Charles H. Varnum (R-10th District) has complained the State Liquor Control Commission for being responsive to the opinions he expressed in opposition to the Commission's "full-case" regulation on purchases by liquor licensees.

The Commission last week modified its ruling to relax purchasing procedures for licensees with a smaller volume of business. The modified regulation will allow small bars and package liquor stores to order as little as a quarter case of some brands, although the ban on single bottle sales will remain in effect in Flint and the seven county area around Detroit. Other areas of the state, including the Upper Peninsula, will return to normal purchasing practices.

The altered and less stringent rules will be in effect for the month of October on a trial basis, and the Commission will then decide if further modifications are necessary.

A National Roll Call of All Veterans of World War I has been requested in order to compile a complete file of all veterans and widows of World War I still living in this area. Most veterans are not aware of the many benefits that they are eligible to receive, due to the vast number of changes being made in Veterans' Legislation. Do you know that you can request burial in a National Cemetery, also for your wife? Do you know about a widows' pension? Do you know of these benefits? Some of these benefits apply to all WW I veterans, rich and poor alike. Every veteran of WW I is requested to fill in the above roll call box so that we may have a complete record.

Tight Security For First Lady's Visit

Final plans are confirmed for the visit of the First Lady to dedicate the Sylvania Recreation Area, it was announced today by Ottawa National Forest Supervisor M.W. Kageorge.

Mrs. Lyndon Johnson is including this visit and dedication in her 3,560 mile "Crossroad, U.S.A." visit to seven states including Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, South Dakota, Missouri, Illinois, and Indiana.

"Sylvania admirably suits the purpose of the First Lady's trip," Kageorge said. "Purchased by Land and Water Conservation Fund money for public recreation, these 18,000 acres of near pristine forests and sparkling clear lakes, ornament the landscape of the beautiful Michigan Upper Peninsula. As a public recreation area administered by the Forest Service of the U.S. Department of Agriculture, it will in no small way help to revitalize the economy of this region, and it is giving all of the people an opportunity to enjoy the beauties of nature."

Bought In 1966

Purchased by the Forest Service just a year ago, Sylvania was first opened for public use on April 29 of this year. The formal dedication by Mrs. Johnson at noon, Friday, Sept. 22, will take place at the north end of Clark Lake, accessible only by way of Highway US-2, and County Road 535.

Other roads to Sylvania will be locked off that morning to avoid excessive traffic jams. Special parking will be available for visitors about one-half mile from the dedication site, and provision is being made to transport those not able to walk such a distance.

Accompanying Mrs. Johnson on the Sylvania trip will be Mrs. Hubert H. Humphrey, wife of the vice president, Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman and Mrs. Freeman, special assistant to the President on the arts, Mrs. Roger Stevens, and Senator Philip Hart. Their plane is scheduled to arrive at Ironwood at 10:30 a.m., Friday.

Ruppe Is Greeter

Here they will be greeted by Congressman Philip Ruppe, Ironwood Mayor William Lindberg, Chief of the Forest Service Edward P. Cliff, Regional Forester George S. James of Milwaukee, Kageorge, and superior National Forest Supervisor John O. Wernham.

The party will proceed from the airport at Ironwood for Sylvania in special cars and busses. Arrival at the Clark Lake dedication site will be at noon, with dedication at 12:10.

The public will not be able to join in the motorcade to the Sylvania site.

The public is invited to travel to Sylvania directly, well in time for the dedication. They will be entertained prior to the arrival of Mrs. Johnson and party, by the Watersmeet High School band. Dr. James Perry, president of Gogebic Community College in Ironwood, will act as an introductory speaker prior to the formal dedication ceremony.

Brief Ceremony

The dedication ceremony itself will be no more than 20 minutes. Congressman Ruppe will act for Governor George Romney who had a prior commitment out of the state. Ruppe will give the official welcome to the First Lady. After her own remarks, Mrs. Johnson will formally dedicate Sylvania by unveiling a special plaque at the site. She will then be presented a birch bark canoe and other gifts by Mrs. Mary Dahlin, president of the Ironwood Women's Club, and acting on behalf of other women organizations and local chambers of commerce.

Following the dedication ceremonies, Mrs. Johnson will be given a brief boat trip on Clark Lake. A trail hike and special luncheon at Snap Jack Lake had also been planned, but because of time limitations these had to be cancelled. In place of the luncheon the official party will enjoy box lunches aboard the cars and busses on the return trip to Ironwood.

Motorcade Route

The party will depart the Sylvania area at 1 p.m., traveling north on Highway US-2, passing through the communities of Marenisco, Wakefield, Bessemer and Ironwood. The route through Ironwood will be south on Lake St., to Ayer, west on Ayer past the Gogebic Community College to Marquette St., south on Marquette to Aurora, west on Aurora to Suffolk, south on Suffolk to the Hiawatha Statue, around the statue and back to Aurora, west on Aurora to Lowell Ave., north on Lowell Ave. to Cloverland Drive (Highway US-2), and from there direct to the airport via U.S. 2 and Lake St. Tight security will be enforced to prevent other than official cars and busses in the return calcade.

Local schools in the communities the official party will be passing through are expected to allow children to view the motorcade along with the other citizens. The calcade will return to the Ironwood airport at 2:45 p.m., and plane departure time will be 3 p.m. for Madison, Wis.

First Frost Reminder Of Silo Filling

The frost of a week ago makes it silo filling time. A delay from here on out will not help the amount of nutrition put into the silo.

Research conducted in 1966 by Michigan State University found that as the corn lost moisture because of the freeze it also lost feeding value. They also found that they lost tonnage in the drying out process of the plant due to the frost.

"We have some very nice corn to go into the silo if it goes in now," says J. L. Heiman, Delta County agricultural agent. "We hope some will also add some Urea to increase the protein content of the silage. The silage put in now will be a part of the ration for the dairy animals throughout the winter months. It better be good otherwise milk production will suffer."

The verse, "Mary Had a Little Lamb," were the first sounds ever recorded on a phonograph.

Union Strength In U.S. Amazes Israeli Visitor

The Escanaba Rotary Club's visitor from Israel, on the eve of his departure, told the Rotarians of his impressions of the United States at the club's luncheon meeting Tuesday noon.

Itzhak Goldenzweig of Tel Aviv, who hopes soon to enter the legal profession in his own country, will leave Friday after spending two months in the U. S. under Rotary sponsorship.

Each summer the Rotary Club sponsors a student from another land in a program of international service. Ralph Kaziatek, Rotary president, conducted the meeting; Robert Mosenfelder, international service chairman, introduced the speaker; and Clint Dunathan presented the guest with souvenirs of Escanaba on behalf of the Club.

Goldenzweig has been a guest in the home of the Mosenfelders and the Dr. Robert Rydes while in Escanaba.

Reviewing his impressions of the United States, the young Israeli—fresh from the Israeli-Jordanian conflict in which he served as a lieutenant in Israel's army—said that he had arrived in New York but a few minutes when a girl approached and asked him to sign a petition "against the war."

He asked her which war and she said, "Vietnam, of course," and indicated her surprise that there was any other war going on in the world.

The vast size of the United States impressed him deeply, he said. The friendliness of the people, their pride in their work and in doing a good job, were other outstanding impressions. "And your food—which I found distasteful at first—I have come to like."

"And I was surprised to find how strong your organized labor is," he continued. "I had thought of the United States as a first class capitalistic country, but after two months here I have come to the feeling that you could teach Russia something about socialism."

He said he thought Americans were strongly conscious of money as a symbol of success. "People seem to think and judge almost everything by the amount of money involved."

It was his opinion that while American children seem to have many privileges, including the use of the family car, they were expected to live up to certain goals of education set by the parents. Young people in Israel have a greater voice in the determination of their future, he added.

While drinking among American youth is forbidden by law, "Stolen water tastes better," according to a proverb, and drinking alcoholic beverages takes on a spirit of adventure it does not have for Israeli youth, he added.

The war in Vietnam is "bad propaganda" for the U. S. around the world, which hears of the bombings but not of the assistance and aid programs, he said. The conflict should be settled as soon as possible, he said without suggesting how it should be done.

Of race riots and bigotry: "I think the future of America very much depends on how you solve this problem."

Arbitration By Court?

Michigan Supreme Court Justice Theodore Souris was in the Upper Peninsula this week speaking on crime. He makes an eloquent and acceptable plea that the rise in crime comes not from the courts' rulings for human rights, but from other sources.

We noted the dissent of Justice Souris from the Michigan Supreme Court ruling in the teachers strike and expressed our concern about the breakdown of collective bargaining and the increasing takeover by arbitration and other processes.

Justice Souris said that he was specially concerned about the trend away from even arbitration toward legal process. In arbitration, he said, at least both sides in the dispute have a voice in the choice of an arbiter, but whoever files a suit first makes the choice in a court action.

To say that judges are competent to judge cases which have such impact on society and which are not about one man's relationship with the government, is to deny history's finding, said Justice Souris. History says that the courts don't possess such competence and Souris said that even though it was decided that the courts have the power to rule in such cases (as the teachers strike) it would be his hope that they would forego the authority.

In the teacher strike the Holland, Ottawa County, School District sued in circuit court for an injunction to force the teachers to teach. The teachers responded that the district had not bargained on pay in good faith. The court issued an injunction to compel the teachers to return to work immediately.

The teachers asked the Michigan Court of Appeals to rule and it declined and they took their plea to the State Supreme Court, asking:

1. Stay of enforcement of the injunction, saving that the circuit court had no right to order their return to work.

2. Leave to appeal their whole case directly to the Supreme Court.

The Supreme Court by vote of 5 to 3 denied the teachers request to stay enforcement of the back-to-work order. Souris wrote the dissenting opinion. He held that the injunction requiring the teachers to work was a violation of the 13th amendment forbidding involuntary servitude.

None of the teachers involved had signed individual contracts. There was no bargaining agreement. The order was for involuntary service, held Souris, adding that there was no contract setting pay, hours of work, etc.

The absurdity of the injunction to compel work, he held, was magnified because the Legislature had provided a remedy in the tenure act. The school district in a strike was authorized to terminate employment and the teachers would lose their tenure, pensions and other benefits and the district could sue for breach of contract, "which was the assumption of the circuit court and most of our courts."

We don't usually use the injunctive process unless other remedies fail, said Souris "and I thought the injunction premature if not illegal. Justices Paul L. Adams and Thomas Kavanagh and I dissented."

Justice Dethmers said it was not an injunction in the usual sense, but meant you go back to work or quit and then the teachers wouldn't be subject to jail for contempt. But the other justices didn't say it meant that. Elsewhere, however, teachers began to resign, so it seemed Dethmers was taken at face value.

Justice Adams voted with the majority for the appeal. 6-2. The dissent thought the appeal premature because the district hadn't asked leave to reply. Justices Tom Brennan and Eugene Black said they'd grant the application to appeal to the Supreme Court and then have the Supreme Court remand the case to the trial judge to hear it as it should have been heard originally to give relief to both parties.

We are impressed by Souris' concern over the end implications of the use of the injunction (a court order directing that something be done or not done) in complex socio-economic controversies of great public impact. We are especially concerned because of the court's suggestion that once it has acquired jurisdiction it has the power to resolve all issues pertaining to the dispute.

This points to arbitration by judicial process, with choice of weapons by the first to sue and decision by a court incompetent to render justice.

WAGES OF SIN
Have you wondered why the wages of sin are so low? Collected by the government, taken away from the taxpayer, and then given to the government, it's a cycle that's hard to break. The wages of sin are low because the government is the only one who can collect them. The wages of sin are low because the government is the only one who can spend them. The wages of sin are low because the government is the only one who can tax them.

But suppose the expense of a sin is not deductible. The government takes the position that it would be bad public policy to let a person deduct the cost of a sin from his income. The wages of sin are low because the government is the only one who can collect them. The wages of sin are low because the government is the only one who can spend them. The wages of sin are low because the government is the only one who can tax them.

But the government wants that if honest people have to pay a tax on their income, so should dishonest people. In the words of Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes: "Congress may tax what it forbids."

Of course, a lawbreaker may not report on even keep records of his income. Nevertheless the government has various ways of establishing its case. For example:

The gambler's income was proven by his bank deposits. Another gambler's income was proven by the commissions he paid to his confederates. And a third gambler's income was proven by evidence of the average "take" in similar gambling operations.

If a wrongdoer must pay a tax on his income, may he at least deduct his expenses. If they are "ordinary and necessary" costs of doing business, more people get more news from newspapers than all other sources combined.

AMENDMENT

On Sept. 14 Congressman Guy Vander Jagt and I proposed in Congress an amendment under the Appalachia Bill that would help our economy through a transfer of federal funds. Our amendment was designed to re-channel $3 million in Appalachia Bill funds to the Upper Great Lakes Regional Commission. The money was to be used, on a matching basis with the States, in an action program to bring the Great Lakes alewife problem under control through accelerated development of the predator salmon fishery program.

There were two major advantages of our amendment. First, upgrading of sports and commercial fishing will provide a springboard for economic progress in the Northland. I understand, for example, that the salmon program can be expected to bring $1 billion to the Northland over a 10 year period for a federal and state outlay of $27 million. The Federal Department of Interior estimates the economic value of a five pound coho salmon at about $30 to $40 per fish.

When we reach our goal of 40 million salmon we expect about 2 million a year to be pulled out of the water. Second, these salmon are alewife eaters. Who can forget the billions of dead alewives fouling the beaches from Chicago to our Upper Peninsula this year? A vigorous coho salmon program will completely arrest the alewife problem.

Our amendment was a good one. The only thing wrong with it is it failed—by a slim margin of 7 votes out of 362. The reason it failed is the really sad part. Key congressmen and senators from the majority party do not want the Upper Great Lakes Regional Commission to succeed. The reason they don't is because three of the four chairmen are the Republican governors of Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota. There is a real partisan fear that if the Upper Great Lakes Regional program is a success these governors will get the credit.

There were 142 Republicans and 36 Democrats standing in support of the motion. There were 168 Democrats and 16 Republicans snouting "nay". The motion went down 178 to 184.

Guy Vander Jagt and I had been working on the floor of the House all day rounding up support for our proposal. We were told we didn't have a chance when we started, and were gratified at the tremendous support we did receive for Northern Michigan. Shortly before the vote, I urged that the House of Representatives "with one bi-partisan voice" give the Upper Great Lakes region the support it deserves.

The results were not bi-partisan. I am proud to say, however, that 36 Democrats did rise above partisanship and stand with us. Among those Democrats were Congressman Sidney Yates and Roman Pucinski of Illinois and Congressman Clement Zablocki of Wisconsin.

We lost a battle, but we are still waging the war. Congressman Vander Jagt and I continue to work with the state and federal governments on the rapid development of our fishery resources. The dual result will be to bring the alewife under control while developing sports and commercial fishing which will bring an infusion of new money to Northern Michigan.

People, Events Of Yesteryears

From the Files of the Escanaba Daily Press

25 YEARS AGO

Escanaba sighed last night as a deluge of rain added to the miseries of a week of daily rain storms. A total of 1.10 inches of rain was measured in last night's downpour.

Floyd Flinn, 124 N. 20th St., was awarded the title of Escanaba's 4-H Victory Garden club champion for 1942 at the annual garden show for the third successive year.

30 YEARS AGO

Three brothers were accepted for enlistment here yesterday when they applied to join the 20th reserve Engineers. The brothers, Fred, Edmund and Walter Poirier, came from Dryden, Michigan.

Two sailors from one of the vessels docked here ventured into local restaurants, ordered meals, ate them, and walked out without paying three times before they were taken to the police station where they paid fines and the cost of the meals.

Ann Landers

If Boy Meets Girl, Hair Gets Combing

Dear Ann Landers: We have a 15-year-old son who is driving us crazy. It is his teeth and his hair. He ties up the family bathroom for one hour every morning while he brushes his teeth. But he flatly refuses to put a comb through his hair.

Here is his routine. He gets up, brushes his teeth for 20 minutes, eats breakfast, goes back to the bathroom and brushes his teeth again. Then he gets dressed. Before he leaves the house he returns to the bathroom a third time and brushes his teeth once more.

All the while his hair is matted and straggly and he says it doesn't bother him because "nobody brushes their hair anymore."

What is wrong with this boy? Do you think he will ever grow up and act like a civilized human? — WED' LIKE THE BATHROOM

Dear W. L. T. B.: Yes, he'll probably meet a girl one of these days and then he'll tie up the bathroom for two hours.

In the meantime, for those second and third brushings, provide him with a jug of water and a basin and free up the bathroom for other members of the family.

Dear Ann Landers: I am an unwed mother who wrote to you two weeks ago and asked what I could do to get support money for my child. I am only 16 and I can't get a job.

Well, the situation has changed since I wrote. The father got married three days ago, but not to me. I went to the welfare agency as you suggested and they told me I could not get any support money out of Barney unless I can prove he is the father. If I say he is the father and he says he isn't the father, whose word are they going to take?

By the way, Barney just got out of the service and he does not have a job. The baby will be a year old next week and Barney hasn't given me one dime. What do I do now? — CONFUSED

Dear Confused: Since you are in touch with the welfare people, I suggest that you do as they tell you. I wish I could be more optimistic about your chances but you've a tough battle on your hands if Barney is denying the paternity. It may be that the best you can get, if you win, is to put him in jail. And what good would that do you?

Dear Ann Landers: This letter is to say "Amen" to the appeal made by "Voice of America" to the country's dress designers. May I add a word?

I understand that half the adult population of the United States is over 26 years of age. (This is the half, incidentally, that pays most of the bills.)

I can tell you from experience that it is earned near impossible for a 40-year-old woman who is 5 feet 7 inches tall to find anything decent to wear, at any price. If her bust is larger than 32 she can forget it. I haven't bought a new outfit in two years and I feel positively seedy. But I refuse to wear a dress that fits like a sausage casing, or, heaven forbid, the tent-style monstrosities which make every woman look pregnant.

Please tell me how the manufacturers can afford to ignore a large segment of their best customers. — PROSPECTIVE NUDIST

Dear Pro: The manufacturers say business is good. So someone is buying the nutty styles, even though you aren't. And, P. S., Sister—neither am I.

Want to say "no" to drinking without your buddies putting you down? Get cued in. Write for "Booze and You—For Teen-Agers Only," by Ann Landers. Send 35c in coin and a long, self-addressed and stamped envelope with your request.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped and self-addressed stamped envelope.

Turkey Slaps Ban On Soccer

ANKARA, Turkey (AP)—The Turkish Cabinet, meeting in emergency session here Tuesday decided to temporarily suspend Second Turkish Soccer League games.

The meeting, presided over by Prime Minister Suleyman Demirel, took the action following the disastrous soccer riot in the central Turkish city, Kayseri, Sunday in which at least 41 persons died, sources said.

The Hog is delighted with the dummy and sees that his six no-trump will make if he can collect three spade tricks. He wins the heart lead and cashes dummy's ace of spades, just in case there is a singleton king somewhere. East shows out and the Hog appears to be down, out, but at least he has avoided the spade trap. No amount of genius could bring home a spade slam.

Actually the Hog is not too worried about his contract. He runs off four clubs and is pleased to see a diamond and a spade discard from West. Three diamonds, come next and to discard again. Another spade discard will be fatal so West lets a heart go. The Hog knows now that West has one heart and three spades. He proceeds to cash dummy's remaining top heart and leads a spade to his queen.

West can't afford to duck, for can he afford to take his king. The Hog shows his hand and chalks up another slam.

VISTA Workers In Nahma Help Whole Community

By MARY KNOLL

Two 18-year-old girls who believe that there is more to learn about life than the knowledge that is available in books are now working in Nahma as VISTA (Volunteers in Service to America) workers.

Through the VISTA program, they hope to gain experience that will help them in college and in their future lives. They are Ruth Nixon of Mountain View, Calif., and Paula Root of Barnesboro, Penn. Both are high school graduates and both are devoting a year to the VISTA program before they enter college.

Since their arrival at Nahma on Aug. 14, the girls have been working with underprivileged children and families in the area, mainly in person-to-person relations, and doing any work needed in community back and programs.

They have started a recreation program, called "Happy Hour" for children of all ages. On Saturday morning, a story hour for the youngsters is held. An arts and crafts program is offered every Saturday afternoon for the older children. The girls help regularly with the Girl Scouts and Brownies and have helped set up the library in the Big Bay de Noc High School in Nahma.

The girls' future plans include a tutoring program, in which they will ask other high school teenagers to help them work with the senior citizens of the area, and additional work with individual families. This work, the girls say, will include finding employment for unemployed members of families, helping families work out their problems seeing that the children get medical attention, etc.

Summing up their work, the girls claim that there is something new every day, and that as new and different problems and situations develop they will become involved in them.

The girls say that their past lives have influenced their decisions to become VISTA workers. Ruth grew up in a low-income neighborhood in a city with a population of 50,000. She said, "I got to know the people in the neighborhood, and felt something should be done to help the people who hadn't had the breaks."

Paula, who comes from a community of 3,000 people, claims she "had the desire to help people all along." She plans to become a social worker.

Both girls have done previous work in the field, on such programs as Headstart, and in youth camps.

They attended a six-week training program at Northern Michigan University to prepare for their work in Nahma. They are supervised by the community Action Agency, under direction of Ray LaPorte.

"We like Nahma very much, and feel that it is our home now," the girls said.

Chrysler Studies GM Price Lists

BIRMINGHAM (AP) — Virgil Boyd, president of Chrysler Corp., said Tuesday his company "will be competitive" in prices with General Motors and Ford on 1968 models.

Boyd added, however, that Chrysler is making a study of GM's lower suggested list prices and would "wait and see what the other major competitor does" before deciding whether to let Chrysler's original list stand.

Chrysler's original suggested list prices averaged $133 per car more than those for comparable 1967 models. GM announced an average advance of $110 per car Monday.

Ford is expected to announce its price before dealer introduction on Friday.

Both Ford and Chrysler rolled back their original 1967 price lists, after GM announced an average lower increase.

Ford Of Canada Cuts Work Force

OAKVILLE, Ont. (AP)—Ford Motor Co. of Canada temporarily will lay off 925 hourly employees at Windsor next Monday, a company spokesman said today.

This will bring Ford of Canada layoffs to a total of 1,350 in Windsor since the United Auto Workers Union struck the U.S. Ford company Sept. 6 over contract disputes.

The spokesman said the Windsor plants, which supply both

U.S. and Canadian assembly lines, are continuing to operate with about 3,000 hourly employees.

Alben W. Barkley was 72 when he was inaugurated as vice president of the United States, oldest man ever to be elected to that post.

MICHIGAN DEPARTMENT OF CONSERVATION

Supreme Court Review Of Helmet Law Coming

A decision by a Wayne County Circuit Judge which ruled unconstitutional a new Michigan law requiring motorcyclists to wear protective helmets is expected to be reviewed by the Michigan Supreme Court.

Justice Theodore Souris said that the entire question, including laws requiring safety belts in automobiles and safety devices in industry, is probably important enough "to merit our attention and ultimate decision."

"I don't doubt this case will be reviewed to our court," he said.

Wayne County Circuit Judge Charles Kaufman ruled the Michigan law requiring motorcyclists to wear safety helmets is unconstitutional in an appeal from a Municipal Court conviction by William Duncan of Detroit.

Found Guilty

Municipal Judge Richard D. Dunn of Dearborn Heights

found Duncan guilty of the safety helmet law violation after police testified they ticketed him for not wearing a helmet. Dunn gave Duncan the alternative of paying a $25 fine or serving three days in jail.

Arthur Bichan, Duncan's attorney, argued that enactment of the law was not proper under the police powers because its violation does not harm the public. He quoted from an essay by 19th Century philosopher John Stuart Mill:

"The only purpose for which power can be rightfully exercised over any member of a civilized community, against his will, is to prevent harm to others. His own good, either physical or moral, is not a sufficient warrant."

Duncan testified that use of the helmet interferes with the motorcyclist's ability to hear other traffic and also with his peripheral vision. Nevertheless, he said, he normally wears a helmet but was riding his cycle without it to check a knock in the engine.

Souris said Judge Kaufman was perfectly within his rights and duties as a judge to declare the law unconstitutional in the case. He said that until a new law has been ruled on by a higher court, it is the responsibility of a lower court to rule.

First Court Test
 He said this apparently is the first court test of the law and thus it was Kaufman's responsibility to rule. The case, however, is subject to review and Souris indicated it probably would come to the Supreme Court.

The Justice said that the entire field of safety legislation is involved and that there would be many factors to consider. The court might rule, for example, that it is constitutional to require auto manufacturers to install seat belts in cars, but not to force people to wear them.

He also pointed out, however, that failure to wear seat belts or safety helmets could result in more serious injury to a person in event of an accident, thus causing greater harm to an insurance company, for example, in benefits paid.

Witness Terms MSU's Tuition Plan 'Blackmail'

LANSING (AP) — Students, parents and legislators joined Tuesday to denounce Michigan State University's new sliding-scale tuition system, while an MSU administrator declined to say what he thought of it.

"Extremely unfair," said the mother of an MSU freshman. "Blackmail," said another mother.

"A step toward total socialism, unfair, unreasonable and totally uncalled for," added a student.

The statements were made at a House subcommittee hearing on the new MSU tuition system, under which annual per-student payments range from $354 to $501, depending on the income of a student's parents.

Parents who want to pay less than the $501 maximum are required to send to the university their 1966 income tax data and prove they earned less than $16,700 that year.

Invasion Of Privacy
 Witnesses charged the system was unfair to working students and to parents with more than one college-aged child. Some added they regarded it as an invasion of privacy.

Only one witness—Rep. Thomas White, D-Detroit—praised the system as "a new and exciting program."

University Secretary Jack Breslin—representing MSU President John A. Hannah—refused to say what either he or Hannah thought of the system, which Democratic members of the MSU Board of Trustees passed last July on a 5-3 party line vote.

But Breslin acknowledged that the "hundreds" of letters he had received on the subject ran about three to one against it.

Alumni Object

"I have received a number of communications from alumni stating they would no longer support the university by cash gifts or send their sons and daughters to the university," Breslin told the committee.

"But I think we'll have to wait and see what really happens." Other witnesses were outspokenly opposed to the "ability-to-pay" system.

"What they're doing is slapping a fine of $147 per year on anyone who wants to keep his financial affairs his own private business," said MSU junior Jeff Routen.

"As a general principle," agreed Mrs. Marjorie Eicher of Orchard Lake, mother of four children including an MSU sophomore. "I feel and my husband feels that our income tax form is a private matter between us and the federal government."

"Paying For Privacy"
 "More and more our privacy is being turned toward socialism," warned Mrs. Robert Partlan of Birmingham, a mother of six.

"Blackmail is an ugly word," said Mrs. Sam J. Slawson of St. Clair Shores. "but what other word describes paying for privacy?"

Breslin said a new fee determination office, set up at MSU to administer the new tuition system, at one time had 17 full-time and 3 part-time employees and now is down to eight full-time persons.

Breslin said the plan, designed to raise tuitions by about $4 million this school year, cost $10,000 to administer.

Straits Coho Seen By 1970

LANSING (AP) — The Straits of Mackinac area may have Coho salmon fishing by 1970, reports Rep. Robert Davis, R-St. Ignace.

Davis said he contacted the fisheries division of the State Conservation Department to find out department plans for planting Cohos around the Straits.

Wayne Tody, fish division chief, told him that the Charlevoix, Grand Traverse and St. Ignace areas are high on the salmon planting priority list, Davis said.

Because of the current shortage of young fish, the department plans limited plantings in previously developed areas next spring, he reported. But it is hoped that enough salmon eggs will be hatched to allow expansion in new areas in the Upper Peninsula and northern Lower Michigan.

"This could come about in 1969," Davis said.

Davis said lack of facilities to breed the fish are holding up the program. He said he plans to urge other legislators to support added funds for new hatchery facilities next year.

Beauty Costly

LANSING (AP) — The State Highway Commission says it spent $1.3 million during the last six months for purchase and application of fertilizer, weed spray, brush killer and grass seed on the state's 9,200-mile highway system.

what's in a name?

Our full name is

"The Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company"

But, to most, we're "A&P" for short.

And some friends like to call us "The Tea Company"

Why? Well, in 1859, when A&P began, our first product was tea.

We bought full shiploads from the Orient and sold it at great savings to the public.

You learn a lot about tea in more than 100 years.

Today, you can savor the results of all that experience
by tasting one of A&P's fine tea products:

Our Own Tea Bags, for example.

Each bag contains up to 15 of the world's finest teas, from as many as 5 different countries.

It can take that many to develop our distinct blend.

So now you know why, by some, we're called

"The Tea Company."

If you'd like to know why we're called "Great," shop A&P this week.

Sportsmen Back Gill Net Use By Fishermen

BY KENNETH S. LOWE

MUNISING — Delegates to the Northern Michigan Sportsmen's Association's annual convention voted 23 to 2 in favor of a proposal to restrict gill net fishing on Lakes Superior and Michigan.

The only ballots against the resolution were cast by the Munising-Alger Conservation Club, host organization for the Sunday meeting. Delegates from five other clubs were represented. All voted to support the resolution, which was introduced by the Republic Sportsmen's Club.

The vote was taken after considerable discussion on the Michigan Conservation Department's controversial proposal to ban gill nets in an effort to prevent trout and salmon from being caught inadvertently by commercial fishermen.

If the proposed restrictions are passed, 90 per cent of the commercial fishermen would be forced out of business, said Roy Jensen, Escanaba, executive secretary of the Michigan Fish Producers Association. Jensen was permitted to address the convention after it was questioned whether he was in order, inasmuch as he is not a member of a club affiliated with the NMSA.

Jensen Heard
He said coho salmon were consuming large numbers of planted trout and reported that from two to five small lake trout were found in every coho taken in Grand Marais Bay. He said he doubted that cohos could materially reduce the population of alewives, a trash fish on which salmon have been feeding heavily in Lake Michigan, and implied that commercial fishing would be needed to control alewife numbers.

Jensen suggested that the department consult commercial fishermen on where trout should be planted.

Asa Wright, Marquette, fish habitat biologist for the department, said processing of alewives was not proving very practical. He warned that, unless new commercial fishing regulations are applied, Michigan could lose its present Great Lakes fisheries.

Trout Come Back
There was questioning on the extent of the lake trout comeback since the Lake Superior restocking program began. Wright said the department estimates the lake has about 65 per cent of the lake trout population it had before the decline began. Commercial fishermen claim there are at least as many trout now and possibly more than in the peak period years ago. They point out that this increase has occurred even while there was commercial fishing for whitefish, herring, chubs and other species.

Clubs that supported the proposed gill netting ban, in addition to the Republic Club, were the Rock Community Sportsmen's Club (of Baraga and Houghton Counties), Tahquamenon Sportsmen's Club of Newberry and the Negaunee Rod & Gun Club.

Delegates of the six NMSA clubs present also approved the following resolutions:

● That no trout shall be planted under six inches in any lake inhabited by other species (in order to guarantee a greater degree of survival).

● That the coyote bounty be retained and that the fox bounty be reinstated.

● That the coyote bounty be increased to $30 (from the present $15 for males and $20 for females).

More Rabbitry
● That the rabbit season be extended one month — through March.

● That the NMSA take steps to help obtain funds needed by the department to better promote fish and wildlife management.

● That the department's authority be extended to cover all fishing in Michigan waters — both commercial and sport fishing.

● That the state provide a general hunting, fishing and trapping license combined, exclusive of special permits and stamps.

● That beaver trapping be prohibited within 50 feet of a beaver house, hole or dam.

● That state and federal pine plantings be curtailed and that emphasis be placed instead on developing forest covers of aspen and other game feed types of trees.

● That the NMSA reaffirm its stand in opposition to any restrictive legislation whatsoever on sporting arms of any kind.

More Duck Hunt
● That the duck season in the Upper Peninsula be opened five days earlier than at present.

● That the state should return to the taking of ducks only with antlers three inches or longer.

● That the department sample all waters where factories, mills, etc., discharge waste material.

● That it be illegal to burn tires along stream banks during the smelt dipping season.

● Jack Manigan, Munising, president of NMSA, presided over the convention, at which Stan Kusmerek, Munising, was elected NMSA secretary and George Mullenbach, Chassell, was elected treasurer.

Negaunee was awarded the mid-winter meeting the third week in February.

Honor Teacher
NMSA conservation education awards were presented by Conservation Officer Frank Opoka, Escanaba.

The association's 1967 award for the best conservation education program in the Upper Peninsula went to the Iron Mountain Public Schools.

Peter Van Laanen, a member of the Iron Mountain faculty, was the recipient of the annual Peter Trudell Conservation Education Award. He was given an engraved wrist watch, made possible through a trust fund set up by William Asselin of Norway in 1955.

Methodist Men Name Directors For Delta County
Delta County Methodist men met at the Memorial Methodist Church in Gladstone Monday night for a steak fry and quarterly meeting.

Jack Williams, president of the Delta County organization, announced that the conference appointed a board of directors which will serve the group for the ensuing year.

The board is composed of Methodist men, presidents of the local groups at Escanaba Central, Cornwell, Escanaba First, Bark River, and Gladstone Memorial Churches. Directors are Donald Ness, John Good, Harold Bergquist and Merle Hoverson.

The new organizational structure will strengthen both the countywide and local groups in their goals of Christian service.

Rotarians Will Attend Forum
President Ralph Kaziatek of the Escanaba Rotary Club reports that Dr. Richard Rinehart, program chairman of the club; Robert Mosenfelder, international service chairman; Robert Haack, information chairman; and Walter Nelson, classification chairman, will attend the district leadership forum of Rotary International at Iron Mountain on Saturday.

District Governor Edward L. Edick of Escanaba will preside.

Opening day of the New York subway system was Oct. 27, 1904.

Public Safety Dept. Rejected In Saginaw Vote

DOWAGIAC (AP) — Voters have rejected a proposal to merge the Dowagiac police and fire departments into a single safety department. The decision could mean a tax increase to maintain the separate departments.

Voters decided 460 - 413 to repeal a council - adopted ordinance creating the safety department. City Clerk Albert First said. Citizen petitions forced the issue to a public vote.

First said voters also rejected a proposed tax increase but that the vote had little effect because the City Council has state permission to amend the city charter, raising the tax limitations by two mills. Council adoption of the charter amendment would bring a tax increase.

First said the city faces a $22,000 deficit by maintaining separate police and fire departments this year. He said a safety department was estimated to cost $158,000 while budget requests from the police and fire departments this year totaled $180,000.

Beer Barrel Seed

C&NW Holding Company Acquires Reading Corp.

CHICAGO — The Chicago & North Western Railway and the Philadelphia & Reading Corp. announced they have agreed on major terms of a merger.

The agreement, subject to investigations by both sides, would allow Chicago & North Western Industries, Inc., a holding company formed by the railroad, to acquire Philadelphia & Reading through an exchange of stock.

Philadelphia & Reading, a diversified manufacturing company, had an after tax income of $19,125,000 on net sales of $327,800,000 in 1966. North Western had a net income of $26,074,000 on revenues of $315,900,000 last year.

Ben W. Heineman, chairman of North Western, will serve as chairman and chief executive officer of North Western Industries and Howard A. Newman, chairman of the board and president of Philadelphia and Reading, will serve as president.

Philadelphia & Reading has approximately 55 per cent of its sales in consumer products, principally apparel and boots. The remainder of its sales are in industrial items.

Cadillac Police On Skunk Hunt

CADILLAC (AP) — Shotgun blasts punctuated the night around Cadillac and dawn comes not so sweetly these days.

The night police patrol defends the city against invaders, taking care, says Police Chief Delbert Conrad, to stand upwind of the enemy.

Skunks are the problem. And sometimes it gets downright aromatic, says Lt. Willard Irwin, one of the city's policemen and a sharp observer of the skunk patrol.

"I woke up with a slight odor floating about one morning last week," he said. "But it was gone by noon."

"It gets pretty ripe once in a while," said Irwin. "But, even in damp weather when the smell is worst, it goes away in a couple days."

None of the patrolmen, so far, have taken the full force of a skunk's spray, Irwin said.

"They're too smart for that," he said.

"The skunk come in about this time every year," Willard Irwin said. "We think it's because it's drying up out in the woods and they come in to dig up the lawns for food."

The "skunk patrol" has guarded the city for the last 10 years, but this year, Irwin and Conrad say, it's a little worse than before.

"The patrol got seven in one night," Irwin said. "They've killed about 30 or 40 this fall."

Armed with 12-gauge shotguns, the patrolmen drive around the city in the dead of night, checking out areas where invaders have been reported.

"Pow! Pow!" "It's not hard to miss those white stripes in your headlights," Irwin declared.

One of the more malodorous facets of the campaign is burying the casualties, a task the patrol performs.

Conrad said the patrol will prow after the city's unwelcome visitors until they scramble back to the woods.

"Soon as the snow flies they'll go away," Irwin predicted.

Jail For Drunks

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — A person arrested for the first time on a drunk charge will be placed in jail for a few hours, then released without appearing in court, posting bail or being fined, say Police Chief Wesley Sharp and Robert Fitch, city prosecutor. They say it is strictly "a time and money saving procedure for the city and county."

Michigan Tests Duke Patterns

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Michigan sent both its varsity offense and defense against Duke patterns simulated by the freshman team Tuesday in a two-hour workout.

The Wolverine offense divided its time equally between running and passing plays, but Michigan is expected to concentrate on passing when it meets Duke in the season opener at Ann Arbor Saturday.

The team was reported in good physical shape with only defense back Doug Nelson out with a bad knee.

Krivoshia was Indiana's main ground threat with his straight-ahead battering.

Gonso's potential as a pass-run specialist on the option and Isenbarger's speed on sweeps, Pont hopes, will loosen up defenses which last year held Indiana to a longest scrimmage gain of only 12 yards.

Replacing Krivoshia at fullback is Terry Cole, two-season halfback at 220 pounds who now weighs 207 and is tabbed by Pont a fine blocker and quick inside runner.

Among Pont's 14 returning starters are Al Gage, a rugged 193-pound tight end; offensive tackle Bob Russell; rover back Jim Sniadecki; middle guard Cordell Gill, and linebacker Ken Kacmarek.

Probable starting sophomores also include a touted sophomore, Jade Butcher at flanker, and end Eric Stolberg on offense; and tackle Bill Wolfe, linebacker Karl Pankratz and safety Mike Baughman on defense.

"We have our best sophomore class in a long time and we're happy with our incoming frosh squad," said Pont. "I think we have turned the corner in our rebuilding program."

Boston Bounces Tigers From 1st

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit, leaving 10 men stranded on base, was bounced out of first place in the torrid American League pennant race Tuesday night as the Boston Red Sox came from behind for the second night in a row and whipped the Tigers 4-2.

The loss left Detroit in fourth place, one game off the pace, behind co-leaders Boston and Minnesota, and one-half game behind Chicago.

The defeat was a bitter blow for left-handed Mickey Lolich, who dropped his first game after six straight victories. The portly southpaw fanned 13 and gave up six hits before leaving in favor of Earl Wilson in the ninth when Boston rallied for three runs and the victory.

13 Bad Number

"I'd rather give up 15 hits and seven runs and win," said Lolich. "You don't get paid for good games, just wins. That'll teach me to stop at 13 strikeouts. It's a bad number."

Detroit went into the ninth leading 2-1 on the strength of a tape-measure home run in the sixth by Jim Northrup. The ball landed in the third deck, 82 feet above the playing field and 350 from home plate still going up.

The two-run blast, Northrup's eighth this year, came with Al Kaline, who had doubled, on second base.

"It's the hardest ball I've ever hit," said Northrup, "but it didn't matter."

The Tigers left the bases loaded with one out in the third and the sacks filled with nobody out in the eighth without scoring. Two other innings they put the first two men on base and failed to score.

It's Nothing New

"This isn't anything new with this ball club," said Manager Mayo Smith. "This team has had a history of leaving men on base. Did you ever see so many opportunities to score runs? I can't answer that."

The Red Sox, who finished ninth last year, were jubilant. "Beautiful, beautiful," said Red Sox Manager Dick Williams. "This team doesn't quit."

Boston took a 1-0 lead in the second on Reggie Smith's single, a wild pitch and a single by Russ Gibson.

Northrup's homer had put Detroit in front 2-1 before the Red Sox' outburst in the ninth.

Jerry Adair opened with a single, Carl Yastrzemski walked and George Scott, who failed in a bunt attempt, lined a single to center, tying the game at 2-2.

Detroit brought in Wilson, a 21-game winner and he got Reggie Smith on a sacrifice bunt, advancing the runners.

Costly Wild Pitch

Wilson walked pinch hitter Dalton Jones to load the bases. Then, with pinch hitter Norm Siebern at the plate, Wilson uncorked a wild pitch, allowing the deciding run to score. Siebern was given an intentional pass.

field, where Kaline made a great catch and fired the ball to the plate, just missing the sliding Scott with the fourth Boston run.

Detroit threatened in the ninth, but failed to score on Jose Santiago and two relief pitchers. Don Wert led off with a liner to left and Yastrzemski made a sliding catch.

"That play kept them out of a lot of trouble," said Mayo Smith.

Santiago walked the next two batters and brought up Eddie Mathews to bat for Ray Oyler.

Williams batted in left-hander Bill Landis to pitch and Mathews struck out swinging.

"I told Landis to pump it in there and don't mess with them," said Williams, who brought in right-handed pitcher Gary Bell to pitch to Kaline.

"We're Not Dead"

Kaline drilled a liner to center field and Reggie Smith caught it low to the ground, coming in hard.

"I cheated just a little on Kaline," said Smith. "I knew Yastrzemski and (Jose) Tartabull would back me up. We signaled each other to go for the ball in the air. I'm glad I caught it."

Williams noted that Reggie "got a helluva jump on the ball."

But the Detroit manager wasn't conceding the pennant.

"We're far from dead," said Smith. "We're one game out. Boston lost three straight before coming here. Now we've lost three straight."

Negaunee Retains Top Spot In Grid Ranking

For the second straight week the Negaunee Miners are rated No. 1 in Upper Peninsula prep football ranks by the daily and weekly sportswriters in the region.

Coach Lodie Morris' high scoring Great Lakes Conference champs drew eight first place votes and 104 points in this week's balloting.

Kingsford moved up from third place to second, edging past the Escanaba Eskymos. The Flivvers garnered two first place votes and 93 points while the Eskymos picked up one vote for the top spot and 87 points.

Menominee climbed into the top 10 this week, replacing the Gladstone Braves who slipped into the honorable mention list.

Voters will get an opportunity to examine the wisdom of their selections this week when six of the top-ranked teams tangle in three games. Manistique, ranked No. 7, takes on the top rated Negaunee eleven Friday night at Manistique. Escanaba invades Kingsford the same night and on Saturday Crystal Falls travels to Hancock.

The top 10, with first place votes in parentheses:

Team	Pts.
Negaunee (8)	104
Kingsford (2)	93
Escanaba (1)	87
Iron Mountain	82
Bessemer	58

St. Ignace	26
Menominee	18

Others, in order: Stambaugh, Ironwood, Gladstone, Ontonagon.

In This Corner With RAY CRANDALL

Tom Smith, class 5 foot 10 inch, 165 pound senior quarterback on Coach Mike Forsberg's Powers-Spalding football team, is off to a sensational start this season. In two straight Wolverine Conference victories over Pembine and Bark River, Smith has chalked up five touchdowns on the ground and has pitched three TD passes to Scott Riedy.

Antigo, Escanaba's first football victim this fall, has notched two straight victories since that opening setback. The Red Robins topped Marinette 27-14 two weeks ago and tripped Rhinelander, 11-6, last weekend.

The Menominee Matrons scored a major upset by tipping highly regarded Madison West, 7-6, before a standing room only crowd at Walton Blesch Field. Coach Ken Hofer's Maroons won with a 55 yard drive capped by Dale Englund's nine yard power sweep into the end zone with 2:27 remaining in the game. Tom Poquette booted the conversion for the slim margin of victory.

Lake Linden, Holy Name's foe here this Saturday, held highly regarded Hancock to a 19-6 lead until the final minute and 13 seconds of their game last weekend, then saw the Bulldogs tally a pair of lightning-like TDs to bow by a 33-6 margin. Quarterback Dick Salani passed for three touchdowns and ran for another as Hancock registered its second straight victory. Lake Linden was held to a minus 1 yardage on the ground but gained 151 yards through the air as quarterback Dick Schneider completed 11 of 23 passes.

Although Michigan Tech took a 33-7 licking from Alma in its opener Saturday, Coach Bill Lucier had words of praise for a pair of former Upper Peninsula prep athletes. Flanker Dane Dominici of Iron River, an outstanding quarterback in high school, caught four passes good for 39 yards. Jerry LaJeunesse of Houghton, also a star quarterback in high school, averaged 37 yards on eight punts for the Huskies.

Tom Watson, sophomore from Newberry, filled in for the injured Dennis Porter after the Northern Michigan University co-captain suffered a serious knee injury in the 34-17 victory over Akron at Marquette Saturday. Porter, former Sault Ste. Marie star, will be sidelined for the remainder of the season. The Akron game drew 6,000 fans.

Rudy Steiner had another big day as Iron Mountain trimmed Iron River, 33-6, in a Menominee Range Conference game. The 6 foot 1 inch, 210 pound senior quarterback ran for two touchdowns, passed for two more and booted three extra points. He connected on eight of 19 passes for 122 yards and gained 51 yards in eight carries.

Hoosier Gridders Trim Off Excessive Poundage

Last in a series on Big Ten football prospects.

By JERRY LINKA

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP)—Indiana's harrassed Hoosiers are hungry any way you look at it, as they grid for their tri-state season opener here Saturday against Kentucky's Wildcats.

Coach Johnny Pont, starting his third Indiana season, has had his squad lop off 550 pounds since spring practice in the interest of speed and improvement of his 3-18-1 record at the Hoosier helm.

Typical of Pont's weight-reducing crusade which trimmed an average of 15 pounds per man on his offensive and defensive lines is standout interior lineman, Doug Crusan.

The 6-foot 4 Crusan, shifted from offensive to defensive tackle, melted down over the summer from 265 to 235 pounds. "I feel much better and move much better," said Crusan, adding wistfully, "But I also feel hungry all the time."

There is plenty of hunger artistically, too, at Indiana which had five straight losing seasons before Pont arrived from Yale determined to lead the Hoosiers out of the Big Ten football wilderness.

Pont is relying heavily on two sophomores, quarterback Harry Gonso and tailback John Isenbarger, to put more zing in the Hoosier attack and he feels Indiana may improve its ninth-place Big Ten finish last season with a 1-6 record.

"It's difficult to say we can climb in view of the fact we may start at least seven sophomores, but deep down inside I feel we may be a first division team," said Pont.

Gonso, a superb high school athlete at Findlay, Ohio, and Isenbarger, a 200-pounder from Muncie, Ind., were quarterback rivals for Frank Stavroff's vacated post.

Gonso apparently won the call, but Isenbarger is such an effective runner that Pont installed him at tailback in competition with Mike Krivoshia, converted fullback who was the Big Ten's second best rusher last season.

Pont's weight-slashing program was aimed at producing an outside running game, practically nil last season when Krivoshia was Indiana's main ground threat with his straight-ahead battering.

Gonso's potential as a pass-run specialist on the option and Isenbarger's speed on sweeps, Pont hopes, will loosen up defenses which last year held Indiana to a longest scrimmage gain of only 12 yards.

Replacing Krivoshia at fullback is Terry Cole, two-season halfback at 220 pounds who now weighs 207 and is tabbed by Pont a fine blocker and quick inside runner.

Among Pont's 14 returning starters are Al Gage, a rugged 193-pound tight end; offensive tackle Bob Russell; rover back Jim Sniadecki; middle guard Cordell Gill, and linebacker Ken Kacmarek.

Probable starting sophomores also include a touted sophomore, Jade Butcher at flanker, and end Eric Stolberg on offense; and tackle Bill Wolfe, linebacker Karl Pankratz and safety Mike Baughman on defense.

"We have our best sophomore class in a long time and we're happy with our incoming frosh squad," said Pont. "I think we have turned the corner in our rebuilding program."

Twins Keep Tie For Top As Boswell Finds Plate

By The Associated Press
Dave Boswell and Earl Wilson took a short walk on the wild side. Boswell found his way back to Easy Street but Wilson ran into a dead end.

Boswell overcame a severe backache and early control problems Tuesday night and finished with a brilliant two-hitter as the Minnesota Twins held a share of the American League lead by pounding Kansas City 8-2.

The victory kept the Twins tied for first place with the Boston Red Sox, who scored the winning run on a bases-loaded wild pitch by Wilson. Detroit's 21-game winner, during a three-run ninth inning spurt that cased the Tigers 4-2.

Detroit fell into the fourth spot in the hectic stretch race, one game behind the leaders and one-half length back of the Chicago White Sox, who blanked California 3-0 on Joe Horlen's six-hitter.

Baltimore shut out the New York Yankees 3-0 and Cleveland zipped Washington 2-0 in other AL games.

In National League play, St. Louis' runaway pennant winners nipped Philadelphia 1-0. San Francisco downed Chicago 6-2. Cincinnati topped Atlanta 3-1. Pittsburgh outslugged Houston 11-7 and New York bounced Los Angeles 6-3.

Boswell, a rangy, 22-year-old fireballer, breezed to his 14th victory after being hurt by five walks, two wild pitches and a hit batsman in the first four innings. He struck out eight and retired 16 of the last 17 batters he faced.

The Minnesota right-hander said his wildness was due in part, to a sore back. "I decided I'd have to bend more and get the ball low in spite of the pain," he said.

The Twins' breaking out of a week-long hitting slump, tagged Jim Nash for four runs in the early innings, then struck for four unearned runs in the seventh after Sal Bando's error opened the gates.

"We've got it going our way," said Bob Allison, who contributed two singles and a double to the Twins' 14-hit attack. Allison, Ted Uhlaender and Jerry Zimmerman—who also stroked three hits—drove in two runs apiece.

"Now it's all up to us," Manager Cal Ermer said. "We have eight of the last 10 at home and our pitching rotation is straightened out. If the good Lord's willing, we'll win it."

"There's no point in worrying about the other teams," added Allison. "You can't play the scoreboard."

The Red Sox were down 2-1 on the scoreboard at Detroit when Jerry Adair reached southpaw Mickey Lolich for a leadoff single in the ninth. Carl Yastrzemski drew a walk and George Scott tied the score with a single to center.

Lolich, who had allowed only four hits while striking out 13 through the eighth, then was replaced by Wilson, making his first relief appearance of the year.

After Reggie Smith sacrificed, Wilson walked pinch hitter Dalton Jones intentionally, filling the bases. The Detroit ace then wild-pitched the go-ahead run home and the Red Sox added an insurance tally on Russ Gibson's sacrifice fly.

Horlen stranded Jim Fregosi after the California shortstop tripled with one out in the first inning, then limited the Angels to five singles on the way to his fifth shutout and 18th victory of the year.

The slim right-hander, who keyed the Sox' stretch drive with a no-hitter against Detroit 10 days ago, also singled to touch off a three-run flurry in the sixth against loser Jim McGlothlin. Tom McCraw's triple and singles by Tommie Agee and Ken Boyer delivered the runs and Horlen made them stand up.

The Orioles blanked the Yankees behind three pitchers for the second night in a row, Jim Palmer, Eddie Watt and Pete Richert collaborating on a four-hitter.

Dave Johnson's run-scoring single and a bases-loaded walk to Brooks Robinson in the third inning saddled ex-Oriole Steve Barber with the loss.

Max Alvis cracked a bases-empty homer and Sonny Siebert scattered seven hits, leading the Indians past Washington. Alvis connected for his 20th homer in the fourth and Rich Scheinblum's sacrifice fly delivered another run in the fifth.

Giants' Retread Wins 20th Game Over Chi-Cubs

By The Associated Press
The St. Louis Cardinals are champions of the National League but the consolation prize for reclamation project of the year goes to Mike McCormick of the San Francisco Giants.

McCormick became the league's first 20-game winner Tuesday when the Giants rallied for five ninth inning runs and a 6-2 victory over the Chicago Cubs.

Jack Hatt's two-run pinch double keyed San Francisco's ninth inning uprising and helped McCormick reach the 20-victory mark for the first time.

Elsewhere in the National League Tuesday, New York dropped Los Angeles 6-3. St. Louis blanked Philadelphia 1-0. Cincinnati trimmed Atlanta 3-1 and Pittsburgh rallied for an 11-7 victory over Houston.

Rookie Bob Heise doubled two runs across and then scored a tie-breaker on Tommy Davis' hit as the Mets rallied for three runs in the fifth inning and went on to defeat Los Angeles.

Les Rohr, another rookie, went six innings to gain the victory and helped the Mets tie one record and break another. He was their 54th player this season—most ever for a NL club—and the 27th pitcher—tying a major league mark.

Dick Hughes won his 15th for the champion Cardinals, outpitching Jim Bunning with a five-hitter. Ed Spiezio's first inning single scored Bobby Tolan with the game's only run.

Bunning, 16-14, struck out seven, raising his league leading total to 234.

Leo Cardenas drove in the tie-breaking run with an eighth inning single and then scored an insurance run on Tommy Helms' sacrifice fly as the Reds tagged the Braves with their fifth straight loss.

Manny Mota delivered a pair of hits in a six-run ninth inning that carried the Pirates past Houston. Mota started the rally with a pinch single and climaxed it with a two-run hit.

Rookie Bob Robertson whacked a two-run homer for Pittsburgh and pitcher Bob Moose unloaded a two-run triple. Aaron Pointer drove in two runs for the Astros on a single and a double.

Schulze Claims Packers Gipped

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — A television sports director said Tuesday that game films showed the Green Bay Packers should have had time to get off a final second field goal attempt against the Detroit Lions Sunday.

The National Football League opener ended in a 17-17 tie. The clock ran out with the Packers on the Detroit 38-yard line after a Bart Starr to Boyd Dowler pass play.

The play began with eight seconds left on the officials' clock.

Bob Schulze, sports director of station WFRV-TV, said he counted 174 frames on the 16mm camera used to record the final play.

The camera speed is 28 frames per second, Schulze said.

He said he counted frames from the time center Ken Bowman snapped the ball to the time Dowler landed on his back out of bounds after catching the pass.

Schulze said he allowed a four-frame margin for error and still found that the play took 6.21428 seconds. That should have left Green Bay with more than a second and three-quarters to try for a field goal.

Packer Coach Vince Lombardi, who complained to officials over what he considered a premature end to the game, had no comment on Schulze's findings.

Northern Leads State Colleges

By The Associated Press
Northern Michigan University, with two straight victories in the young football season, leads the Michigan college football standings.

Most schools opened last weekend. Alma, Olivet, Western Michigan, Central Michigan, Eastern Michigan and Northwood Institute have one victory each.

Albion, Hope, Michigan Tech and Ferris opened with losses. Northwood's 35-0 victory against Eureka, Ill., produced the scoring leader, Hugh Davidson. Davidson scored two touchdowns and tackled an opposing ball carrier in the end zone for a safety and a total of 14 points.

Northern Michigan, in two games, has rolled up the most points, 41.

Northern's Lonnie Holton scored twice Saturday and is tied with Chris Clark of Alma in scoring. Both have 12 points. Twenty-three players have six points each.

Duffy Gambles On Fast Turf

EAST LANSING (AP)—Coach Duffy Daugherty is gambling by insisting on track field conditions for Saturday's Michigan State football opener against Houston.

The turf in Spartan stadium is clipped short and Daugherty has told groundskeepers not to water the grass.

His theory is that the short grass and a dry field make better running conditions for his break-away backs.

Quarterback Jimmy Raye runs like a scabback and always is a long yardage threat on the ground from the option play. Halfbacks Dwight Lee and Frank Waters and reserve back Lamar Thomas all are a threat to go all the way any time they see daylight.

But Houston also has some track stars in football uniform. End Ken Herbert was the national scoring champ in 1966 with 113 points. Halfback Warren McVea is a sprint champion who averaged more than 10 yards every time he took a pass or ran from scrimmage during the past two years. Don Bean was tops nationally in punt return yardage with 19 runbacks for 318 yards.

Five Get 37 At Highland

Thirty-seven appeared to be the score to beat at the Highland Golf Club as no less than five golfers hit the one over par figure, including Ward Stiemert, Jerry Sundquist, Bob Boucher, Abe Milkovich and Mel Manske.

Other low scores included a 39 by Jack Smith and Paul DeBen, and 40's by Ben Douglas, Einar Beck and Vial Smith. Although the regular twilight league season is officially over, more than 75 golfers enjoyed the excellent fall golfing weather. The Tuesday night dinners will continue until the end of October.

Highland golfers are reminded of the Grand-Dads Day tournament to be held this Sunday. Play will start at 10 a. m. and should finish at approximately 1:30 p. m. The event is part of a nation-wide Grand-Dad's Day promotion.

Unitas Proves His Arm Is Okay

NEW YORK (AP) — The Atlanta game was something special to John Unitas. A year ago he came out of Atlanta with a damaged right shoulder that threatened to end his career.

The rest of the season was an agony of pain and interceptions because John couldn't put the speed on his short passes in tight situations.

Unitas tried something different this year. In pre-season camp of the Baltimore Colts he babbled his arm, warming up only once a day and cutting down on the number of passes he threw. In the pre-season games he saw limited action.

Last Sunday was opening day in the National Football League. Unitas and the Colts faced Atlanta at Memorial Stadium. They were asking the question: Is Unitas sound?

The veteran quarterback provided the answer by completing 22 of 32 passes for two touchdowns and 401 yards, his very first 400-plus game in 12 years of pro ball.

"I think this was John's all-time best passing performance," said Coach Don Shula of the Colts.

John throws the ball, sore arm and all, just as well as he always did," commented ex-teammate Alex Hawkins, now an Atlanta flanker. "You have to appreciate how much he did when you consider he doesn't have a running back going for him. We knew he was going to pass but we still couldn't stop him."

With testimonials like that, the Associated Press couldn't go wrong in naming Unitas the NFL Offensive Player of the Week.

Unitas hit Tom Matte over the middle on the first 1967 play from scrimmage for an 88-yard touchdown pass. Later he threw a 55-yard TD pass to Jimmy Orr and completed four straight for 51 yards in a clinching fourth quarter TD drive in a 38-31 victory.

State Fluoride Order May Spur Old Controversy

LANSING (AP) — Michigan communities of more than 1,000 were on notice today that their water supplies must be fluoridated—an order expected to rekindle a more than 20-year-old controversy.

State Health Director Dr. Albert E. Heustis, invoking administrative rule-making power formally ordered fluoridation of all Michigan water supplies serving more than 1,000 people.

Heustis took the action, the health department said, on the basis of legislation going back to 1913 which gives the director the authority to make sure public water supplies are "pure and wholesome."

The step was taken, Heustis said, after careful consideration of all testimony following a public hearing on the proposed rule July 21.

Evidence Clear

"The evidence is clear and overwhelming," he said "that fluoridation provides improved dental health for all children; dental health that carries over into their adult years."

There was no immediate reaction from groups who strongly oppose fluoridation on grounds that it is harmful to health, and violates religious beliefs and provisions of the U.S. Constitution.

The department said the legality of the rule has been cleared with the attorney general's office and that it was filed Monday with the secretary of state for printing in the next quarterly Michigan Administrative Code — expected about mid-February, 1968.

Timetable Set

The rule will take effect when printed in the code, the health department said.

A timetable sets fluoridation deadlines of Oct. 1, 1968 for water supplies serving more than 5,000 people; July 1, 1969 for those serving between 2,000 and 5,000; and July 1, 1970 for those serving between 1,000 and 2,000.

Heustis said the rule is subject to review by the Joint Administrative Rules Committee, which can, if it sees fit, temporarily suspend the rule and recommend the Legislature disapprove it by concurrent resolution.

Both Sen. Robert Huber, R-Birmingham, committee chairman, and Rep. Don R. Pears, R-Buchanan, vice chairman, were unavailable for comment.

75% Now Fluoridated

Dr. Chester V. Tossy, head of the department's dentistry division, said more than 112 Michigan communities representing 75 to 80 per cent of the state's population already drink fluoridated water under locally adopted rules.

Opponents have charged, Tossy said, that fluoridation is forced medication and that city council decisions to fluoridate water violate constitutional provisions.

None of the objections have been upheld by the courts, he added.

Opponents have charged, Tossy said, that fluoridation is forced medication and that city council decisions to fluoridate water violate constitutional provisions.

None of the objections have been upheld by the courts, he added.

"But, it's too tough a battle for the past 20 years not to expect some opposition," Tossy said. "We know that there's a lot of pressure being applied."

Battery Car In 2,000-Mile Test

DETROIT (AP) — The Mars II, a zippy little 15-horsepower electric car, was due to whiz out of Detroit today on the first leg of a 2,000-mile trip to Phoenix, Ariz.

The trip, billed as the first cross-country journey by an electric auto, is a demonstration and promotion tour sponsored by the car's owner, Arizona Public Service Co.

Mars II is a product of Electric Fuel Propulsion Co. of Detroit. Robert Aronson, company president, was to drive the car.

Mars II, a converted, five-passenger Renault-10, weighs 3,640 pounds, hits a top speed of 60 miles an hour and accelerates from 0 to 40 mph in 10 seconds, manufacturers said.

The car is due to cross nine states in about two weeks and make 36 stops for battery recharging. The first stop was set for Toledo today. Officials said a quick charge unit will accompany the Mars II and be used at each stop.

Walter T. Lucking, board chairman and chief executive officer of APS, said his company is making the trip to stimulate interest in electric cars and to give the company firsthand experience with electric vehicles.

"We believe the electric car will be commonplace in American cities in the years ahead," he said, "because of its lack of exhaust fumes, low operating and maintenance costs, quiet operation, simplicity of design, built-in safety features and its ease of starting, driving and parking."

The manufacturers said the Battery life is five to six years, car's batteries are good for 800

School Districts Get State's OK To Borrow Money

LANSING (AP) — A number of school districts have been given the go-ahead by the state public service commission to borrow funds to meet expenses for the new year.

Pontiac was given approval for a $3.82 million school bond issue, to finance new building. Wyandotte was given approval of issuance of $1.3 million in tax anticipation notes for operating expenses.

Other school borrowings approved:

Harper Woods, Wayne County, $500,000 in tax anticipation notes for operating expenses; Baldwin Public School, Lake and Newaygo Counties, $9,900 in tax anticipation notes for capital improvements; Summer Elementary School, Gratiot County, $35,000 in school bonds for new construction; Plainfield Township School District, Kent County, $400,000 in school bonds for new construction.

Van Dyke Public Schools, Macomb County, $600,000 in tax anticipation notes for operating expenses; Riverview Community School, Wayne County, $774,000 in tax anticipation notes for operating expenses.

Congress Asked To Speed Action For Money Bills

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson asked congressional leaders Tuesday to speed action on money bills so he can decide where to withhold spending in an effort to cut the deficit.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield told reporters after a White House conference that Johnson believes there will be some federal spending reductions.

Such reductions, Mansfield said, will exclude defense and atomic energy outlays and automatic expenditures such as interest on the national debt.

"But they will include some projects pretty dear to the hearts of members of Congress," he added with a wan smile.

The Democratic leader said Johnson urged passage of his proposed 10 per cent surcharge on income taxes "as soon as practicable."

Mansfield added the President recognizes the House Ways and Means Committee, which must initiate such legislation, has the primary responsibility of deciding on the timing of any bill.

Meanwhile, private discussions beginning today among the House Ways and Means Committee, the budget director and the secretary of the Treasury may decide the fate of Johnson's surcharge proposal.

Brucker Named To Wayne Board

LANSING (AP) — The executive office has announced the appointment by Gov. George Romney of Wilber M. Brucker Jr. of Grosse Pointe Farms to the Wayne State University Board of Governors.

Brucker succeeds William B. Hall of Grosse Pointe, resigned, for a term expiring Jan. 1, 1973. Senate confirmation is not required.

Brucker, 41, an attorney, was a Republican candidate for the board in 1964. He is the son of the former Michigan governor.

Jordahl Joins Lakes Staff

WASHINGTON (AP) — Harold C. Jordahl of Madison, Wis., has been sworn in as alternate federal co-chairman of the Upper Great Lakes Regional Commission by Secretary of Commerce Alexander B. Trowbridge.

A native of McIntosh, Minn., Jordahl, 41, was appointed to the $25,890 a year post by President Johnson.

Jordahl had been regional coordinator of the Interior Department's upper Mississippi-Western Great Lakes area, with headquarters in Madison. He joined the interior department in 1963.

He was formerly director of the Wisconsin Department of Resource Development.

The Upper Great Lakes Regional Commission is charged with spurring the economic development of 119 counties in northern Minnesota, Wisconsin and Michigan.
